County achievers on honours list

BY NICHOLAS BIEBER
nicholas.bieber@HPnorthants.co.uk

Three people from Northants have been named on the Queen's New Year Honours list.

Cargin Moss, aged 54, of Little Billing, has been chosen to receive a Member of the Order of the British Empire (MBE) for his services to taekwondo, the community and charity.

Brian Stone, aged 77, of Northampton, has been selected to receive Medal of the Order of the British Empire (BEM) for his service to the community in Northampton.

And Graham McInnes, 75, of Earls Barton, will receive a BEM for his services to Church Music and the Wellingborough Talking Newspaper.

Mr Moss, who owns a martial arts school in Northampton called 'Cargin Moss Black Belt Academy', has raised £150,000 for charity through his school.

He said: "I was absolutely gob-smacked when I received the letter to say I had got an MBE.

"I must admit, at first, I thought it was a tax demand!"

Editor's Letter

Thinking small may lead to scoring some big own goals

You know when you have a nagging feeling that something is ridiculous - you say nothing and then it turns out your instincts were right.

I'm getting that nagging feeling about the model of a lean, efficient, smaller state we are building in this country.

We're at the cutting edge of it in Northamptonshire with the county council delivering services through arm's length organisations and the police and fire service blending themselves together.

Is it progress or is it a ludicrous game of balance sheet sudoku?

Progress is a positive step towards a known goal, but do we really know what the goal is? Spending less every year is not an ideology, or even a plan - it's a kind of anorexia of economics where the only pleasing outcome is a reductive one.

The irony is that the current state of the world highlights the madness of reducing the various safety nets of state provision.

Is it progress or is it a ludicrous game of balance sheet sudoku?

We've had people hollering for controls on immigration when there weren't enough border guards to check who was coming in (and no-one checking who was going out).

We've had hospitals rightly criticised for putting financial targets ahead of patient safety but no real reflection on the wisdom of the way targets are set and enforced.

The plan for dealing with the now familiar occurrence of once-in-a-hundred-years type flooding seems to be to get flooded.

When experts are invited on to the news to give us some context they tend to start by saying: "You can never protect everyone from flooding..."

Fair enough, but if your aim is to spend less doing it then we may well end up modern, lean and efficient but we will also be wet...

The baby's sorted... now for the turkey

BY NICHOLAS BIEBER

nicholas.bieber@HPnorthants.co.uk

A wonder mum from Northamptonshire gave birth on Christmas Day – before serving up dinner just 10 hours later.

Candice Fuller, 32, gave birth to her 8lb 3oz baby boy, Harvey-James Vincent Fuller, at her and her husband's home in Daventry at 5.55am.

But rather than resting – Candice, determined to make it a perfect Christmas Day especially for her four-year-old daughter Sienna, soon decided to get on with the cooking.

And by 4pm, she and her family of five – including Sienna, her husband Karl, and her mum and dad – were all tucking into turkey and lamb with all the trimmings.

But if that wasn't enough effort, Candice even managed to open her Christmas presents, along with the rest of the family, just half an hour after giving birth.

"It was just the perfect Christmas. It really couldn't have been planned any better," said Candice, a self-employed wedding make-up artist.

"After giving birth, my mum and dad came round at 6.30am, before our daughter then ran into our room looking for us – she had slept right through it all!"

"We then shouted 'Father Christmas has left you some presents', before saying 'he has left you more than that!' Sienna then came down, met Harvey, and we all opened our presents before starting on the Christmas dinner. It was all overwhelming really."

Despite the day turning out perfectly, Candice admits she initially didn't want to give birth on Christmas Day, as it could have put a hold on the day's festivities.

"It was just sod's law, wasn't it, that it would be Christmas Day. Thankfully, in the end, it all happened so perfectly and it was alright."

Although Candice had started cooking just six hours after welcoming her baby boy into the world, fortunately she had plenty of help from her family, including her parents, and Karl, aged 34 – who she has been married to for six years.

"Me and my mum did it together really," she said. "I had prepped loads of stuff the day before – so it was just a case of putting the oven on and dishing up, which my mum did."

"Karl and my dad then did the washing up afterwards, and at the end of it all we all gave ourselves a great big high five and said 'how the hell did we pull all of that off!'"

Couple's tears of joy over best Christmas present

A same-sex married couple will be celebrating Christmas one week late – after welcoming their baby into the world five weeks early on Christmas Day.

Sarah Manning, aged 29, gave birth by a caesarean section to 5lb Harlow Manning at 9.53am at Northampton General Hospital's maternity ward.

Harlow, conceived using donor insemination, was the first baby born in Northampton on Christmas Day. He wasn't due until January 28, but fortunately he was born with no complications, and Sarah and her partner, Lucy Manning, 25, were planning to return home yesterday.

"It has been the best Christmas ever," Sarah said. "When we heard his first cries, we just burst into tears!" See more online.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Shoe robbery

Two teenagers had their shoes stolen by a pair of masked men on Christmas Day. The two 16-year-olds were standing near a bus stop in Bugbrooke Road, Kislingbury, last Friday when a car pulled up in front of them. Two men then demanded they hand over their shoes and punched one of them in the face.

Burglar stopped

A burglar broke into The Fiddler's pub in Wellingborough Road, Northampton pub in the early hours of Boxing Day and tried to steal cash from a fruit machine. But the man was disturbed by the pub's owner, so he then smashed a window in the door and escaped.

Helping people into work

Lawrence John finds out how Goodwill Solutions is a blueprint for the UK

Goodwill Solutions in Northampton is a philanthropic model which could spread throughout the country.

Established seven years ago, the company as it states on its website is: "A Community Interest Company and we work in a way that helps the local community."

"We work with disadvantaged people across Northamptonshire to help them back into work and to become a valuable member of our community. We are completely self funded using profits from the business, not government hand outs, to run our projects."

"Currently we are running our Back to Work scheme that helps offenders/ ex-offenders, homeless people, those with substance dependencies and vulnerable young people to get training and employment in the logistics sector."

Based at Deer Park Road,

Moulton Park Industrial Estate the company is involved in a number of projects.

One is the new jobs corps pilot designed as an integrated pipeline to get people to learn skills and gain employment.

Goodwill Solutions works with employers to insure those who leave the course have the skills to go straight into work.

Talking about this scheme, CEO and founder of Goodwill Solutions, Mike Britton said: "This scheme will be tailor designed to meet people's needs and the needs of employers."

"They will get vocational skills as well as work experience. They will get the necessary training and qualifications which will be to NVQ level 1 standard."

"We will train them in warehouse work and will insure they can drive the correct forklift truck so the needs of the employer and employee to do the job go hand in hand."

When Goodwill Solutions was set up seven years ago it had the one aim of helping and supporting 1,000 people back into work.

Mike added: "By 2016 we will have past this target and will have to set ourselves a new goal."

"We work with people with learning difficulties, mental health issues, ex-military and a wide range of people."

"We work with the probation service and the police and the prison service."

"Our aim is to run a logistics business which then pays for training and social assistance from the profits."

"We provide a bespoke logistics service but we use the profits to help people."

"The value of what we have been able to provide has been calculated by the University of Northampton at a social value of £1.7m."

"As a company we enjoy the challenges with the business and with the social side."

"This is our business model and I think more businesses will work this way."

FLOOD-STRICKEN: Parts of Yorkshire remain underwater, with yet more heavy rain set to come

Fire crew in mission to bale out flood victims

BY NICHOLAS BIEBER
nicholas.bieber@hpnorthants.co.uk

Firefighters from Northants have been sent to flood-hit Yorkshire to help rescue people from their homes, as the misery continues with yet more heavy rain forecast.

Northants Fire and Rescue Service's specialist search and rescue boat crew have been drafted in to help aid the rescue effort, after a month of rain fell in just 24 hours in Lancashire and Yorkshire.

The crew of six firefighters was first sent to Halifax, Yorkshire, on the night of Boxing Day, December 27, after the city's two main rivers burst their banks.

They were then deployed to Hebden Bridge, Leeds and York, before being replaced by another specialist crew from the county on Monday.

Senior fire officer, Mark Ainge, is one of the officers who made the decision on Boxing Day to deploy the team to Yorkshire, after having 'considered local requirements for specialist capability'.

He said: "The team has been supporting a multi service deployment in West Yorkshire and North Yorkshire. The operation has included searching areas and rescue operations in flooded towns and cities."

"NFRS (Northants Fire and Rescue Service) are very proud of our firefighters and the support they have provided to the communities of West Yorkshire and North Yorkshire.

"Our firefighters are well trained and professional specialist teams. These firefighters have committed to support this deployment on rest days and many have curtailed their family gatherings and Christmas celebrations so as to make themselves available to support this national deployment and help the communities in other counties."

The NFRS crew has been tasked with dealing with situations which are seen to pose a potential risk to life. They have also been working to help evacuate people from their homes.

Group manager Warren Ellison, who is currently in York coordinating work by boat rescue teams, said: "We have been working closely with West Midlands Fire and Rescue Service as a team of two boats, and we have also been working with Northumbria Fire and Rescue Service."

"Most of the people living in areas affected by floods have now either been evacuated or have decided to stay put. Our role is currently to support people who are staying where they are. We are visiting people and evacuating people who decide they don't want to be there anymore."

"We are doing welfare visits to make sure people have the medication and food they need and we are encouraging people to leave their houses."

The 58-year-old was a passenger in a taxi which was being driven along St James Road at about 6pm on Thursday, December 24.

As the taxi approached the junction by the Thomas A Becket pub, it was cut up by a white van.

The man got out of the taxi to talk to the van driver, but was then punched in the face.

The attack broke the man's jaw, leaving him needing surgery.

The van driver was white, in his late 20s, about 6ft and stocky. He was wearing a dark jumper and had short blond hair.

Witnesses to this incident are asked to call 101.

A teenager was attacked and robbed in a Rushden alleyway on Christmas Day.

The 15-year-old was in an alleyway between Co-operative Row and Griffiths Street at about 11.30pm on Friday, December 25, when he was approached by a stranger.

He then punched the boy in the face and stole his bag.

The thief was white and wore grey jogging bottoms and a hooded top.

Witnesses, or anyone who knows anything about this incident can call Northamptonshire Police on 101.

Alternatively, they can call the independent charity Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111 or use the anonymous online form at www.crimestoppers-uk.org.

GOOD DEED: Weston Favell Shopping Centre donated toys to children staying on Disney Ward

Gifts brighten children's Christmas in hospital

A Northampton shopping centre donated a sack of presents to children staying at Northampton General Hospital on Christmas day – as part of its 40 Good Deeds initiative.

Weston Favell Shopping Centre's manager, Kevin Legg, and administrator, Karen Warren, visited NGH's children's Disney Ward on December 23 to make the donation of toys.

The donation was organised as part of the shopping centre's 40 Good Deeds initiative which has seen them looking to complete good deeds within the community.

The gifts that were donated came from a list of suggestions that the hospital provided the shopping centre and included board games, soft toys, an Amazon tablet, and even a chocolate maker.

"A toy donation is something that we have been wanting to do for a while," said Mr Legg.

Heartless thieves steal gravestones

BY NICHOLAS BIEBER
nicholas.bieber@hpnorthants.co.uk

Burglars snatched two 175-year-old gravestones from a churchyard in Northamptonshire – both of which marked the final resting place of members of the same family, both of who were the last ironmongers in the village.

The headstones, both from the Victorian era, were stolen from the graveyard at St Nicholas Church in Overstone between 8pm on Sunday, November 8, and 9am on Monday, November 9.

Police officers investigating the case released the details on Christmas Eve, and are now trying to find witnesses who may have spotted a vehicle acting suspiciously in the area at the time.

The first of the two headstones had twin cherubs, along with the inscription: "In memory of Sophia, wife of Thomas England who departed this life July 7th 1849, aged 78 years".

The second was inscribed: "To the memory of Rebecca England, wife of Peter England who hath left this place. She died 26th December 1831, aged 91".

The headstones were made of metal, paying tribute to the fact they were dedicated to the last ironmongers in the area.

The vehicle which police say was seen acting suspiciously, was a double cab Isuzu pick-up, in a gun metal colour.

It is witnesses who may have seen this vehicle that police are appealing for, as well as people who may have any other information relating to the case.

Anyone who knows anything about this incident can call Northamptonshire Police on 101.

94-year-old was robbed in his home by three men

Police are investigating after a 94-year-old man was robbed at his home in Northamptonshire.

The victim answered the doorbell to his home in Wollaston some time between 9pm and 10pm on Friday, December 18.

Three men then forced him back into his home before searching it and escaping with cash. All three robbers were white, but police have no further descriptions at this time.

Witnesses are urged to call the police on 101.

BLOGGER OF THE WEEK

Make it a life revolution

Lawrence John

Northants Herald & Post reporter Lawrence John writes a weekly blog for the website at www.northampton-news-hp.co.uk. This is the latest.

To take a quote from the cartoon character Foghorn Leghorn and turn it and use it for my own purpose it would read: "I say, I say he is a nice boy with his New Year's resolutions but he has more nerve than a bum tooth for always talking about what he is going to do."

For many years, I have always had the feeling New Year's resolutions are like buses – once one turns up then there is another and another.. until you are surrounded by them.

Every year people keep coming up with what they think are bright ideas and how they are going to do this or that or this and that but end up doing neither.

I feel if you are going to put forward a New Year's resolution it should mean something, it should be backed up not just by words but by deeds and action.

If you are going to come up with a New Year's resolution I would say it needs to be a personal revolution.

I think it should be a revolution in the sense it should be one which will change your life by giving you added extra.

It could be you decide to lose weight but the challenge is not losing however many pounds the real challenge is keeping it off and not reverting back to your former lifestyle which made you want to diet.

This could be classified as a life changer.

You might decide you want to help others and think a spot of volunteering is just up your street.

If you do, then good for you, but at least give it time and make it a contribution which will make a difference for you and the people you are aiming to help.

Today's world is a throw away society. If an item breaks we throw it away and get a new one. Not because it cannot be repaired but in the long term it is cheaper to buy a new washing machine than get parts and labour to repair what has broken.

We should not let this way of thinking permeate any New Year's resolutions we make.

They should be done with the best intent and we should want to live up to our promises.

As I said a New Year's resolution should be a mini revolution – what do you say to that all you budding Che Guevaras out there in New Year's resolution land?

A resolution should be backed up, not just by words, but by deeds and action

Readers back plans for derelict office block

This week we revealed plans have been put forward to Northampton Borough Council to turn the derelict office block, Compton House, in Northampton town centre into student accommodation.

When we asked our readers on Facebook whether they thought this was the right plan for the office block, this is how they responded:

ALAN SCOTT: Why not ? It is suitably located for a walk down to the Bedford Road and they are less likely to have cars, therefore less congestion in town centre than private rents.

SANDIE MAITLAND: There's not enough accommodation for single, homeless people so why not use this for them?

IAIN SKINNER: It will keep them from making a din around Kingsthorpe in the wee hours when you're trying to sleep.

NEIL WELCH: Better to put it to a good use than leave it empty like so many others.

ALASTAIR LEITH: What about the 400+ homeless families in the borough?

SUE GARNER: Turn it into flats to help with the housing problems.

SHARON MOORE: Good idea – all unused buildings should be used to ease homelessness as well..

Christmas dinner for the homeless

BY NICHOLAS BIEBER
nicholas.bieber@hpnorthants.co.uk

A cannabis club celebrated the true meaning of Christmas on the big day when it served up a free barbecue to homeless people in Northampton town centre.

Volunteers from the Northants Cannabis Social Club, which campaigns for the legalisation of cannabis for recreational and medicinal use, gathered on the Market Square on December 25 to serve up hot meals to over 50 homeless people.

The menu included burgers, hot dogs, chicken and lamb, as well as teas, coffees, cold drinks and mince pies - all of which were donated by members of the club, the local public and local businesses.

So much food was donated for the event - which ran from noon until 5.30pm on the day - that the club has decided to hold similar events in the near future.

James Rogers, who runs the group, told the Northants Herald and Post: "It was a pleasure to give up our time to help other people."

"It felt like it did any normal

GOODWILL SEASONING: 50 homeless people received hot meals day of the week when we do it. "The people that came seemed to really enjoy themselves as they all thanked us for what we were doing."

"They would normally have been spread about the town, but because of this event, they were undercover and had food, company and music."

The barbecue idea was part of the club's Winter Care Project, which aims to keep homeless people in the town warm every winter with hot food and drinks and clothing.

And just last month, the club brought an American craze to town - which went down a big hit with the local public.

That idea was hanging up 20 scarves on trees and lamp-posts along Abington Street for homeless people, all of which had tags on them reading: "This scarf is not lost. If you are cold and need to keep warm, it is for you." And on the other side of the label read: "A gift from Northamptonshire Cannabis Social Club."

Chef is a force to

BY DAVID LEAN

news@HPnorthants.co.uk

A sci-fi fanatic chef has used his love of Star Wars to inspire plates of 'food art' – and now has film lovers from across the globe putting in orders to try the stunning creations.

Andy Kelly, 37, originally became a chef only to earn some cash to put himself through an art degree but soon realised he could combine his two passions.

Creating his own unique 'food art', Andy set about creating food that looked like it should be in an art gallery – but for eating.

Each creation is a complete one-off, and in celebration of the release of Star Wars VII: The Force Awakens, Andy has been creating his most unusual plates yet.

Dishes include a gin and tonic lightsaber, a parfait-filled Millennium Falcon, a Han Solo in chocolate rather than carbonite and even plates inspired by Star Wars planets like Hoth and Tatooine.

The dishes have proved such a hit that now Andy has customers flocking from all over the country and beyond to try his creations, with one gentleman visiting from Barbados.

Andy, from Northampton,

ARTY MEAL: Andy Kelly has created bespoke Star Wars themed puddings Words and Pictures by Mercury Media

said: "I'm a huge fan of the films and can't wait to see the new one. I've had requests for sci-fi food art before such as a Back to the Future one that included flaming tyre tracks.

"So as people started getting more excited about the latest instalment, some requests started to pop up for Star Wars dishes. I loved the idea of doing it but each one takes a lot of time as there is a lot of planning to ensure the dish is unique and usually a lot of preparation too.

"Every single one of these food art dishes is completely unique and so whoever orders it will be the only one ever to taste it. It's nice creating something that only lasts a short time, brings pleasure to the person eating it and then is gone without a trace. The only lasting thing is the picture I take of it."

Andy is head chef at Sophias in Northampton, where he can usually be found cooking the restaurant's renowned Med-iterranean cuisine.

After taking up working in a professional kitchen 20 years ago to fund his art degree, Andy soon began experimenting in combining food and art.

It was a year ago when customers at Sophias got wind of Andy's visually impressive creations and regularly began asking if he could produce something for them.

Now word of Andy's food art has spread across the country and Andy is inundated with requests for personal dishes, though due to time constraints and the responsibility of being a head chef he can only take on

Focus on car cameras and a classic drive kids can afford

SAY CHEESE NISSAN

Nissan is famous for being a top-selling car brand, but few people would realise it is fast becoming one of Europe's biggest camera companies too. Having fitted over two million camera units to its range in less than two years it is now snapping at the heels of some of the world's biggest camera makers. Increased safety technology means that Nissan's best-selling models now have up to five cameras per car. It means that the leading Crossover brand sells an astonishing 3,400 cameras per day, or more than two per minute.

AUTONOMOUS VEHICLE TESTING

Fully autonomous Ford Fusion Hybrid vehicles are taking to California streets next year, as Ford Research and Innovation Center Palo Alto continues to grow. Ford is officially enrolled in the California Autonomous Vehicle Testing Program to test autonomous vehicles on public roads. This is part of Ford's 10-year autonomous vehicle development program and a key element of Ford Smart Mobility, the plan to take the company to the next level in connectivity, mobility, autonomous vehicles, the customer experience, and data and analytics.

MCLARENS IN MINIATURE

Production of the full size McLaren P1™ may have ended but McLaren Automotive has linked up with selected partners to offer every fan of any age a scaled down McLaren P1™ of their own. Many sizes, shapes and styles are available, from 1:64 models all the way up to an exact, hand-crafted 1:8 scale replica. The smallest size of McLaren P1™ is now within the reach of the very young, even if their only income is from pocket money, thanks to Mattel-HotWheels. The miniature die-cast toy McLaren P1™ is available in Volcano Orange and Supernova Silver and measures 75mm. The brand has been a favourite of young collectors since 1968 and remains one of the most popular toy car producers today. For those who would rather build their own, Lego® has created a Volcano Yellow McLaren P1™ as part of the Speed Champions series.

SSANGYONG TIVOLI MOTABILITY

The SsangYong Tivoli is now available through the Motability Scheme which means disabled motorists can lease a new Tivoli using their higher rate mobility allowance. The models available include the 1.6 litre petrol SE, EX manual and automatic and ELX manual. The stylish Tivoli is a new and contemporary B-segment SUV that offers a comprehensive specification and sector-leading prices from just £12,950 – and from £99 Advance Payment for Motability Scheme customers.

Skoda Superb

Take a look inside...

Skoda's Superb gets a smart new suit, a slicker chassis and better engines. The weird twin-opening hatch is replaced by a more conventional rear aperture but there's still more space inside than in some London starter homes and the pricing remains sensible.

Skoda's been dipping into the almost unlimited largesse of the Volkswagen Group to bring us some mouthwatering engine and gearbox combinations with this latest Superb. There was a time when Skoda was just given the cast-offs, the engines that were in the final years of production, while Audi and VW got the shiny new technology. That's not the case any longer; with the Superb getting petrol engines like the excellent downsized 124bhp 1.4 and even a monster 2.0-litre turbo with 276bhp, four-wheel drive and a dual-clutch DSG gearbox. In between those extremes, petrol folk get to choose between a 148bhp version of the 1.4-litre TSI unit and a DSG-only 218bhp 2.0-litre TSI variant.

Go diesel and you're looking at 148bhp and 187bhp 2.0-litre TDI engines with six-speed manual or DSG 'boxes. Both of these engines are also available with all-wheel drive options.

The torsional rigidity of the chassis increases by 12%, yet weight is down by 75kg for a body-in-white, due to the strategic use of high-tensile steels where required. The clever MQB chassis, which underpins the Volkswagen Golf and Passat, is used here in its longest guise to date.

After the bold exterior, the interior feels a bit safe in its aesthetics, but there can be few complaints about either quality or space. At 4,861mm long and 1,864mm wide, the third generation Superb is 28mm longer and 47mm wider than its predecessor, while the 2,841mm wheelbase is 80mm longer, allowing for greater space within the passenger compartment. Rear legroom is frankly ridiculous. It's vast in the back. The boot is 30-litres larger than before, at 625-litres, expanding to a cavernous 1,760-litres with the rear seat backs folded.

The Skoda Superb looks the part, making it ever easier to convince those whose car views are at least a decade out of date that a Skoda deserves a place on your shortlist if you're in the market for a medium-ranger. It's slick, presentable and, yes, simply clever.

Five Stars For Mercedes-Benz GLC

The Mercedes-Benz GLC has achieved the top score in the Euro NCAP rating. The new mid-size SUV has received five stars, continuing the Mercedes-Benz success story in impressive style. The GLC has achieved five stars for occupant safety, child safety, pedestrian protection and its assistance systems – giving it the maximum score in the Euro NCAP rating.

The basis for this outstanding result is the perfect interaction between active and passive safety: the combination of a highly rigid safety passenger cell, highly effective restraint systems, the latest driver assistance systems and other measures leads to first-class test results.

Ford Commercial Sales Sail Through 100,000 for 2015

Ford has sold more than 100,000 commercial vehicles (CV) for the year-to-date, the first time sales have passed six figures in a full year since 1989. Ford CV sales for November were at the highest-ever level for more than 25 years, and more than double those of its nearest rival. Ford is on track to record its highest-ever commercial vehicle sales volume for 2015, following a record year in 1989 at 104,721 sales. 2015 marks the Ford Transit's 50th year of market leadership, and the first full year of sales for the expanded Ford Transit range since the Transit Courier was launched in mid-2014.

New Mitsubishi L200 – What Van? Magazine's Big Winner

The Mitsubishi L200 is the 2016 What Van? Light Commercial Vehicle of the Year. The award, from the UK's leading LCV magazine, rewards the new pick-up's massive improvement in interior quality, drive and, crucially for light commercial vehicle operators, efficiency. Mitsubishi collected the coveted trophy at the exclusive What Van? Awards luncheon, held in partnership with fuel card giant Allstar at The Brewery in London on Tuesday 15 December. The L200 also collected the Pick-up of the Year award, while Mitsubishi completed a hat-trick with the Outlander 4Work PHEV winning the What Van? Green Award.

The New SLC – New Name, New Dynamic

In March 2016, 20 years on from the birth of its segment, the archetypal compact roadster is to be relaunched with a new name – SLC – significantly optimised technology and an enhanced look. The name change acknowledges the traditionally close relationship with the C-Class, from which much of the roadster's technology is derived. There are new additions to the model line-up – the sporty top-of-the-line Mercedes-AMG SLC 43 and the entry-level SLC 180. In visual terms, stand-out features include the standard-fit diamond radiator grille and the LED Intelligent Light System (optional extra). Prices will be announced when the SLC is available to order in mid-January 2016, with first cars arriving in showrooms from April 2016.

Hyundai Motor's New Alternative-Fuel Ioniq

A new rendering of Hyundai Motor's all-new IONIQ hints at how the innovative, alternative-fuel compact vehicle, which is due for launch in early 2016, will combine head-turning good looks with class-leading aerodynamic performance. Hyundai Motor has confirmed that the IONIQ will be the world's first car to offer a choice of three efficient and ultra-low-emission powertrains: full electric, plug-in gasoline / electric hybrid, or gasoline / electric hybrid. With a sleek, coupe-like silhouette and numerous eye-catching details, its confident design is a match for its bold environmental credentials

Things go sour for Stanley at Sixfields

GRIPPED BY THE COBBLERS

BY TOM REED

sport@nmedia.co.uk

Marc Richards showed he is the cream of the crop with a headed winner for Northampton against milk advert side Accrington Stanley.

The Cobblers go into the New Year second in League Two after a satisfying 1-0 victory over John Coleman's capable Stanley.

Town showed themselves as real automatic promotion candidates by clinching a vital three points against the run of play.

In spring, when the real promotion picture begins to emerge, performances will be forgotten with sheer number crunching of points counting for everything.

Stanley will be seething that they failed to claim a draw from Chris Wilder's off-colour Cobblers, but were taught a lesson in finishing by Richards, who notched his 14th of the season.

Accrington are taking 'moneyball' to new levels on low attendances and a limited budget and could have had the lead at Sixfields within a minute when Sean McConville let rip a dipping shot which woke Town keeper Adam Smith from his Christmas nap in clipping the bar and going behind.

Northampton have settled into an effective, yet rather safe, 4-2-3-1 formation with Richards at the tip of the spear but Stanley bossed possession using crisp close passing.

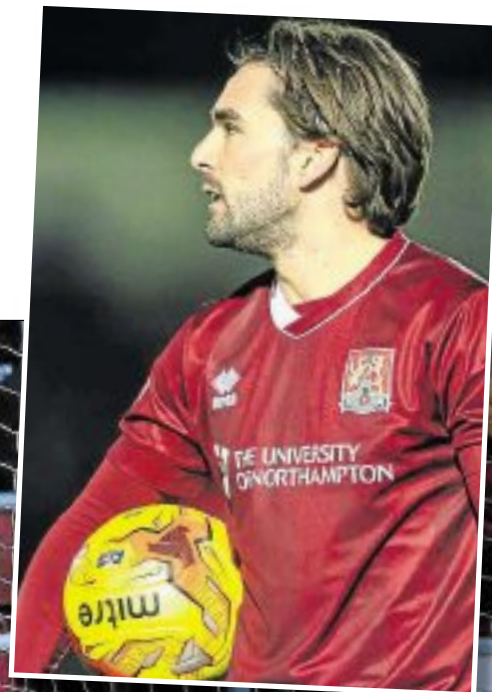

Josh Windass proved the standout player in the first half with intelligent use of space and keen running, which put mental and physical pressure on the Cobblers' centre-back pairing of Zander Diamond and Ryan Cresswell.

Cresswell had put in a powerhouse performance against Portsmouth, but looked ill at ease versus Stanley with ball to feet.

Indeed, Cobblers fans in the over-spill area next to the Stanley Ultras in the away end had their hearts in their mouths midway through the first half when Cresswell appeared to bring down Billy Kee when through on goal.

Somehow, whistle happy referee Nick Kinsey saw no interference with former Leicester man Kee when many feared a straight red card for Cresswell.

Cobblers, with one up front, can blow away the poorer outfits in League Two but seem to struggle to unpick the better sides, and the attacking midfield three of Lawson D'ath, Alfie Potter and Nicky Adams never found a groove.

Lacking in true width, it was only the addition of Dominic Calvert-Lewin at half time which gave Northampton the impetus to travel with the ball and threaten Accrington's final third.

However, Accrington's Windass (on the radar of Arsenal allegedly) proved a pest all afternoon and was only denied by a smart close-range save from Smith after the restart.

When times look tough for Cobblers they can always rely on that man Ricky Holmes and, again, the tiny winger's introduction on 53 minutes gave Northampton new impetus.

Holmes, who faces former club Barnet this Saturday at Sixfields, showed the effectiveness of good technique as his 63rd-minute cross found Richards to head past six foot nine inch keeper Jason Mooney.

Again, it wasn't the cleanest of headers but the contact between man and ball will pale into significance to Richards' goal tally come the end of the season, which looks to be heading well past 20.

Stanley swarmed Town from there on in but showed the true problem with John Coleman's 'money-ball' squad building; they just couldn't hit the back of the net.

At least part of this came from a man-of-the-match showing from Adam Smith in the Cobblers goal, a player who has all the attributes of a million pound stopper. Smith's agility off the line held Stanley back time and time again in the closing stages, epitomising the concentration needed to cement promotion standard wins.

Northampton host Barnet this coming Saturday at Sixfields in what should be another sell-out at the reduced capacity stadium.

Chris Wilder will be hoping to avenge August's 2-0 defeat in North London, while keeping tabs on powerful Bees forward John Akinde, the sort of striker that the Cobblers could do with to reinforce finesse with in-your-face attitude.

Cobblers, with one up front, seem to struggle to unpick the better sides

Off-colour Cobblers win ugly to go second

FOOTBALL

BY MATT WRIGHT
sport@hnmmedia.co.uk

NORTHAMPTON TOWN 1
ACCRINGTON STANLEY 0

This was far from Northampton Town's most accomplished display of the season, but victories like this can be so crucial as Marc Richards' header led to them grinding this one out against Accrington.

Richards settled a contest that could have easily ended with a different outcome if not for the latest superb contribution from goalkeeper Adam Smith, who made a string of saves in the second half.

It's been a dramatic, and at times traumatic, 2015 for the Cobblers, but they end it second in League Two, three points behind Plymouth with a game in hand.

The sides are due to meet in a couple of weeks at Home Park and it's just one of many matches that Town fans can look forward to in what is shaping up to be a hugely exciting second half of the season.

They won't want to fray the nerves of their fans as much as they did in this match at Sixfields too often, but this outfit has definitely picked up the winning habit.

Both teams came into this game after an unexpected day off on Boxing Day because of postponements due to waterlogged pitches, with Accrington's actually flooded by the heavy rain that has struck the North lately.

Cobblers boss Chris Wilder decided to name an unchanged squad from the one that lost to Portsmouth just before Christmas, which meant Ricky Holmes had to settle for a place on the bench again.

The visitors almost got off to a sensational start as Sean McConville bent a wonderful effort from fully 30 yards against the top of the bar with Smith beaten with just 14 seconds on the clock.

Nicky Adams then had a shot from David Buchanan's cut-back deflected just wide in what was a lively start before Richards couldn't quite volley Brendan Moloney's cross on target.

Brad Halliday then sent a first-time effort fizzing wide of the far post from the edge of the area as Accrington again demonstrated that they weren't just here to spoil.

Piero Mingoa was the latest to have a crack from long range as his strike dipped over before the match settled into a more sedate period after a frenetic opening.

Out of the blue, McConville was picked out superbly by Josh Windass and although he had time to bring the ball down, Moloney got across to block his shot bravely.

The Cobblers continued to look sluggish after the break and it wasn't long until Holmes was introduced, in addition to Dominic Calvert-Lewin, who had come on at half-time.

Smith then had to be at his sharpest to deny Windass just before the hour mark, as a ricochet took the ball into the attacker's path and through on goal, only for Smith to make an excellent block.

How crucial it turned out to be as Town took the lead on 62 minutes with Holmes sending in a cross from the left and while Richards' header wasn't the cleanest, it had enough on it to go beyond Jason Mooney in the Accrington goal.

Smith then came out sharply at the feet of McConville to stop him getting on the end of Seamus Conneely's through ball before Richards slammed a shot over the bar from 25 yards.

The game had opened up again with the deadlock broken and Richards almost had a second when Tom Davies blocked his shot from point blank range following a terrible flap by Mooney.

Stanley were threatening an equaliser, however, and an unfortunate ricochet from Ryan Cresswell's clearance almost led to one with Smith saving superbly from Billy Kee.

The man who has impressed so much since signing from Leicester in the summer was soon at it again as he made another wonderful block to prevent Matt Crooks from levelling it up.

McConville, such a threat all afternoon, then bent a shot wide from 25 yards with the Cobblers under siege in the closing stages, but they survived for a winning end to the year.

■ Northampton Town's postponed fixture at York City has been rearranged for Tuesday February 23, with the match kicking off at 7:45pm.

The 290-mile round trip adds to what was already a hectic period on the road for the Cobblers, as they'll be travelling 400 miles to face Hartlepool four days later and 490 miles in order to get to Carlisle and back the following week.

Saints rocked by late penalty try from Exiles

RUGBY UNION

LONDON IRISH 25
NORTHAMPTON SAINTS 23

London Irish stunned Northampton Saints late on to claim their first Aviva Premiership win of the season at the Madejski Stadium.

Irish, who had lost all of their previous six games, earned a penalty try from referee Ian Tempest with two minutes left, and former Saint Shane Geraghty's successful conversion secured victory.

Northampton had looked set to claim the spoils after Kahn Fotuali'i put last season's table-toppers ahead for the first time in the match.

But after Jamie Gibson was sin-binned with four minutes to go, they cracked under Irish pressure.

Saints had missed an early chance to go in front as Stephen Myler uncharacteristically missed a penalty that was earned with a huge shove at the scrum.

Irish were soon winning a penalty of their own at the other end, confidently kicking for touch after a big forward surge.

And from the resulting lineout drive, Irish had Northampton's number as Narraway bulldozed over for the game's first try.

Myler notched three points, but Irish responded quickly through a Chris Noakes penalty and after scrum-half Brendan McKibbin missed an ambitious kick from halfway, Irish scored their second try as Sean Maitland dived in at the corner.

Noakes added the conversion to give Irish a shock 15-3 lead, but Saints pegged them back before the break as Ken Pisi scored an unconverted try.

Northampton narrowed the gap further early in the second half, as Fotuali'i's fine kick ahead found North, who gathered to score his first try of the season.

Myler missed the conversion from out wide and Noakes soon stretched Irish's lead to five points with an impressive penalty effort at the other end.

Northampton quickly responded through a Myler penalty and they were soon ahead as Tom Collins' burst set up Fotuali'i for a try.

But Irish were given the edge when former Exile Gibson was sin-binned late on and they made it count as the referee awarded a penalty try to give Geraghty the conversion to win it.

Alex Waller backs young prop to shine after Brookes' injury

Hill ready to step up

RUGBY UNION

BY MATT WRIGHT

sport@lsmmedia.co.uk

Northampton Saints prop Alex Waller admits the injured Kieran Brookes will be missed but has backed young Paul Hill to fill his shoes at tighthead in his absence.

Brookes, who has been outstanding in his first few months as a Saints player, was ruled out for "quite a while" by director of rugby Jim Mallinder, following surgery on a twisted knee suffered in the Champions Cup clash with Racing 92. It represents a big blow to Northampton as the 25-year-old had been getting the better of opponents at the scrum on the weekly basis, and it has put his participation in next year's Six Nations in jeopardy.

Likely to replace the England international is Hill, 20, who made his first start for the club in Boxing Day's 25-23 defeat to London Irish, after impressing from the bench against Racing.

Waller said: "Brooksy will be missed, but in saying that young Paul Hill is doing a fantastic job. He's really learning every week, he's keen and enthusiastic."

"He's by no means the finished project and he'll admit that as well, but he's working hard every week, looking at scrums and looking at analysis, and he's getting better and better."

"We've got good strength in depth and there's plenty of cover for Brooksy – we were always going to lose him at some point of the season with England, so it's going to be a good experience for Hilly and it shows how good a squad we've got at the moment."

"He's a good character, Hilly, and we get on quite well and I think he'll go far, but he just needs to keep on doing what he's doing and as long as he keeps on learning, he'll keep on getting better."

Brookes being out of action, as well as long-term injury victim Alex Corbisiero, means that Waller is now the most experienced prop available to Northampton.

Waller has been a consistent performer for the Saints in the past few years – so reliable that he has appeared in 101 Premiership games on the trot and counting.

"I'm the senior prop at the moment, which is a worrying fact," Waller said. "I'm 25 but I still feel a bit old looking around and I've been fortunate enough to have been involved in a certain amount of games."

"You look around and you're like 'oh, I'm in charge now,' but it is an honour to be involved in every game and seen as being part of a leadership group that helps the scrum produce what it does."

"It's interesting to be one of the most senior members there, but you look around and you've got Victor Matfield behind you and some other international players packing down, and it humbles you a little bit."

Waller has had the likes of Soane Tonga'uhiha and Corbisiero to learn from in his time at the Saints, meaning he has some sound advice to hand down should it be required.

He said: "I'm very grateful to both of those chaps and to Dorian West as well for giving me a lot of opportunities when I was young."

WILLING REPLACEMENT: Paul Hill is set for an extended run at tighthead prop in Saints' starting line-up following Kieran Brookes' surgery on a twisted knee

Wilder takes the points but not positives

FOOTBALL

Northampton Town manager Chris Wilder saw his side grind out a vital 1-0 win over Accrington Stanley on Monday, but admitted they were second best for long periods of the afternoon.

Marc Richards' header decided a contest that saw the Cobblers perform well below the standards that have taken them near the top of League Two, yet maintain their promotion push with another three points.

But Accrington were lively all afternoon and created plenty of chances, particularly in the second half, and Town were only able to come away with a clean sheet thanks to the heroics in goal of Adam Smith.

Wilder said: "We can take the three points, but I can't take many positives out of the way we've played – where do I start? I thought we were second best all over the pitch."

"I'd be mightily disappointed if I was them, not to come away with something. They're a decent side – they're dangerous, they play in a certain way and year on year they defy everybody's tag of going down."

"We've all been in the game long enough to know that sometimes you don't always get what you deserve."

"We were outstanding at Luton, I thought we played really well against Portsmouth – we really didn't deserve to lose that game – but I can't gloss over that today and mug myself off and say we were the better side."

"We weren't, but the biggest thing in this game is getting the result. I'm grateful that our goalkeeper yet again was outstanding and really won us the points."

Very Happy Customers

I would just like to say a massive thank you to your guy who was working at your station today! I had worked a long night shift and with little cash and a newly broken bank card I was stranded for 3 hours and was struggling to get myself home. Not only was he really understanding and sympathetic, but he gave me the remaining £3 that I needed to get myself home. He absolutely saved my day and I couldn't thank him enough. Brilliant service and would always recommend your services to family and friends.
